Earth Family Organics is an aquaponics urban garden that we've built right here in Raleigh. We are growing and harvesting now many of the items that you're using now, creating a local and year round source for your menus. We're very proud of the facility and would love to show you what we're doing. Call to schedule a tour or to find out what's growing right now!

Aquaponics Facts Sheets

- Aquaponics is the marriage of aquaculture (fish farming) and hydroponics (raising crops without soil).
- Fish provide nutrients to the plants, the plants filter the water for the fish
- Works like a mini ecosystem
- Naturally occurring bacteria turn ammonia from the fish nutrients into nitrites, a second naturally occurring bacteria turns the nitrites into nitrates (fertilizer)
- Uses 5-7% of the water of traditional farming. Only water loss is through evaporation and what leaves with the plants when harvested.
- Certified Organic
- The only inputs are fish food, organic iron supplements, and ground oyster shells to raise the pH of the water.
- Much improved growth rates from traditional farming and more production per square foot.
- Zero fossil fuels used as opposed to traditional Organic farming which uses a tremendous amount of fossil fuels (tractor fuel, diesel compost shredders, etc.)
- Currently growing lettuces, herbs, chard, and kale
